And Instruct Village Treasurer That He Must Do His Own Bookkeeping.

Overall Company Wants to Buy everything new and up-to-date. Property and Build Addition to Plant.

Council met in regular session last January. Tuesday evening with all members present, but in the absence of Mayor Kenney President pro tem, Lennartz accepted the chair.

Following the usual opening rou-tine, Councilman Winkeljohan of the committee appointed several weeks ago to examine the reports of interest on village money made by the village depositaries, the First National and Commercial banks, stated that as far as the reports were concerned, the committee found them all right, but that the Village Treasurer was using the banks as his bookkeepers, which didn't look right to the committee The reports of the two banks acting

While the fact that the village treasurer had the banks keep his books was directly responsible for the small amount of interest received on the village money, the overdraits of the Board of Public Affairs were causing the trouble, said Mr. Winkeljohan and he believed that something should be done to change the procedure of this department in overdrawing their fund. The other members of council seemed of the same opinion, and it was suggested that a motion be passed by the body ordering that the orders of the Board of Public Affairs pass through the hands of the Village Clerk, but when Solicitor Johnson looked the matter up he found that the law made the Board of Public Affairs a separate and distinct department of the city and in no way under the jurisdiction

This changed the line of talk, and the responsibility was shifted to Treas urer Geo. Kistler for permitting orders to be drawn on funds in which there was no money. The Treasurer was not present, but he was handled roughly, and the dads wound up by sending him instructions to get acquainted with the law and do his own bookkeeping.

On motion of Beiersdorfer, seconded by Schunck, Council however accept ed the reports of the banks, a questionable procedure, and by doing cut the tax-payers out of something over a round hundred dollars.

The law provides that the money of the village be deposited by the Treasurer as a whole in the village deposi taries, but instead of doing this the Treasurer deposited the money in the various village funds and had the banks keep the funds separate and the books properly balanced. For this work the Commercial Bank received $33.10 and the First National Bank $57.00.

As several of the funds were overdrawn and the banks paid their money on orders presented to them on such funds, there is hardly a question but that they are entitled to the loan interest, but as to the right of Council to accept the reports there a doubt. The question arises and will not down, why should the Treasurer be paid for his duties and two banks of the city draw $90.10 for performing this same HRISTMAS is indeed the bollday of humanity and by that token no less interesting than humanity itself.

The rich current of its observance has to carry all the bequests of other ages-their ideals, their hopes, their recollections, the beliefs that had won the right to-five, the gracious, joyous customs which had won the same right by helping or heartening men, as well as all that our age can contribute to it from the materiai, artistic and spiritual side. The modern feeling has made a place, as the feeling of each age is sure to do, for the mood of carnival as well as the mood of faith. It can weave into the fabric of the holiday time the little spectacles of fireside felicity, the affectionate pledges of friends, the cheer of the loaded family board or banquet table, the taper lights and organ music of cathedrals, the offerings of music and the drama and all the noble product of the artist and the artisan. In a sense Christendom takes inventory of itself at this time in each of

One of the benefactions of the holiday is that it gives men the chance to do this and puts them in the mood to do it. It is the last and greatest "truce of God." The pause it imoses is not so much on war's alarm, although the din of conflict grows ever feebler the while the message of "good will unto men" deepens into deed and custom, as it is on the absorptions and distractions of an age so wrapped up in its pursuits that it hardly has time to look about it. At Christmastide men do look about them. That its atmosphere could make a bad man out of a good one or a generous man out of a selfish one is one of the paradoxes whereof perhaps we must look to the genial fiction of Dickens for complete verification. But it does make men kinder, more thoughtful, more serene, than

FIRES

The post office at Coldwater was partly destroyed by fire last Friday morning. The burning out of a chim-ney ignited the roof of the building.

Fire completely destroyed the C. H. Klopfleisch home in Liberty Township shortly after eight o'clock last Monday morning. The blaze started from a defective flue in an up-stairs room and had gained such headway before being discovered that it was impossible to check the flames or remove the contents, all of which were destroyed, in-cluding the household goods of a son, G. A. Klopfleisch. The loss is covered by insurance.

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the main offices and the large storage houses of the J. A. Long company at Portland, Ind., last Fri day night, together with a quanity of eggs and and thousands of egg cases, entailing a loss estimated at $20,000. When the blaze was discovered, the entire plant seemed to be on fire, making it impossible to save anything ex-cepting the records in the offices, while the firemen were compelled to work at the saving of surrounding buildings. Both Mr. Long and J. E. Headington, head manager of the plants, were in this city, conferring with the manager of the Celina plant relative to the ber of these powerful incandescent erect here, when the fire occur ed.

There is only one way to overcom atarrh. That way is through the slood. You may use all the snuffs, atarrh. douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh in general is a diseased condition of the system that shows locally most frequently in discharges from mucous membranes, Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition if a complete cure is to be reached. That internal treatment should be scientifically devised and faithfully administered.

Rexall Muon-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an minent physician who for thirty years made catarrh his specialty. This remedy is admirably adapted to the treatment of the catarrhal allments of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous dischares, aids in removing impurities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues, and brings about a feeling of health and strength. We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money.
